ATHENS, Ga. — Grammy Award nominee and multi-platinum artist Noah Kahan, will kick-off the 2027 The Last Of The Bugs World Tour, on Dooley Field at Sanford Stadium as part of the 2027 Live Between the Hedges Concert Series, presented by PruittHealth slated for Saturday, April 24.

Kahan made the announcement Thursday as part of a national tour with LiveNation in partnership with the University of Georgia and Dugas-Jackson Consulting. Ticket pre-sales begin Nov. 12 via georgiadogs.venue.net/events/NK.

“We are thrilled to welcome Noah Kahan to Sanford Stadium as we kick off a new year of Live Between the Hedges,” UGA associate athletic director Tanner Stines said. “Noah’s songwriting and the connection he builds with his audience make him a perfect fit for a spring night in Athens. We are grateful to Live Nation for their experience producing stadium shows, and to Dugas-Jackson Consulting for helping us build a model that works for UGA. We can’t wait to see Sanford Stadium full on April 24.”

2027 marks the second year of the Live Between the Hedges Concert series. Last spring, the ultra-successful musical event saw over 60,000 people flock to Sanford Stadium, where Jason Aldean and Luke Bryan headlined.

Additional updates regarding the 2027 spring concert will be available at a later date.

After a landmark year with his critically acclaimed #1 album and sold-out world tour, 2x GRAMMY®-nominated, multi-platinum artist Noah Kahan is stepping onto the biggest stages of his career. Following this year's sold-out The Great Divide World Tour, Kahan announces his biggest global headline tour to date: a 31-date stadium run as part of The Last Of The Bugs World Tour. For the first time in his career, after selling out baseball stadiums across the U.S., he'll bring his music to even bigger stadiums across North America, Europe, and the U.K.

The North American leg of The Last Of The Bugs World Tour, promoted by Live Nation, will make a stop at Sanford Stadium in Athens, GA, for the tour opener on April 24, 2027.

Following the North American dates, Kahan will head to Europe and the U.K. to continue his stadium run overseas, including stops at Berlin's Waldbühne, Seville's Plaza de España, Paris' Hippodrome ParisLongchamp, and more, as well as three previously announced nights at London's Wembley Stadium.

Next week, Kahan kicks off the sold-out U.K. and European leg of The Great Divide World Tour, following fully sold-out North American, Australian, and New Zealand dates this summer. The Great Divide World Tour sold more than 1.8 million tickets worldwide and earned Kahan the highest-ranked debut on Pollstar's LIVE75 chart.

Kahan's The Great Divide has emerged as a major GRAMMY-season contender, as the record has appeared on every major prediction list for "Album Of The Year," "Record Of The Year," and "Song Of The Year" from Billboard, Rolling Stone, Variety, The Hollywood Reporter, and HITS Daily Double. The recognitions follow his recent cover story in Billboard's 2026 GRAMMY Preview Issue, GRAMMY Museum interview and performance, CBS Sunday Morning interview, and Zane Lowe interview.

In addition, his critically acclaimed Netflix documentary Noah Kahan: Out of Body recently entered Letterboxd's Top 50 Documentaries list, following its SXSW 24 Beats Per Second Audience Award win and a perfect 100% score on Rotten Tomatoes.

Kahan's momentum also continues on the charts, as he remains the only artist to have two albums chart in the Billboard 200 Top 10 for the past six consecutive weeks: the 5x Platinum-certified Stick Season and Platinum-certified The Great Divide.

Kahan's new song "Draw You Out" was recently released as the lead single for The Hunger Games: Sunrise on the Reaping (The Album).
